

Border County Notes

Friday January 4, 1907

CARROLL.

Eld. C. C. Taylor has resigned as pastor of the Christian church at Bogard.

Ben F. Brown has sold his 340-acre farm, near Norborne, to E. D. Brown for $100 an acre.

Carrollton only had two plain drunks Christmas day. Both jagers were fined $1, each, and costs.

Rev. Father Shafer has succeeded Rev. Father Cummins as pastor of the Catholic church at Carrollton.

The body of Mrs. Squires, who died at Sapulpa, I. T., was brought to Carrollton, her former home, for interment.

Geo. Triggers was arrested at Carrollton Tuesday by Sheriff Magee for swearing on the streets. Moral: Don't cuss.

C. W. Keller of Norborne, who is charged with larceny, has been lodged in jail, pending his trial, at the request of his bonds men.

Squire Buzzard, a resident of Carroll county for more than 50 years, is dead. His remains were laid to rest at Pleasant Hill cemetery Wednesday.

Ollie, the 28-year-old son of Jas. Benjamin of near Standish, was numbered with the dead Wednesday. He was unmarried and his death was caused by pneumonia.

The fact that the Baptist church ladies realized over $25 at their handkerchief bazaar would indicate that the people of Carrollton are determined to keep their noses clean.

Ollie Powell, who at one time resided in Trotter township, but who had made his home in Kansas City for the past two years, died of measles in Kansas City Monday, aged 22 years.

John Fisher of near Carrollton fell from a log while he was crossing a ravine Wednesday and broke a leg. He was not found until several hours afterward when his family instituted a search for him when he failed to come to dinner.

Mrs. Susan C. Kinnaird, relict of the late Rev. Geo. T. Kinnaird, died Sunday afternoon in the 86th year of her age at her home, near Standish. Deceased was a native of Virginia and the mother of seven children, four of whom are still living.

Andrew Adcock of South Carrollton lost his barn and contents by fire Tuesday. A horse, owned by Dr. Gatlin, that was in the Adcock barn was so badly burned that the animal had to be killed. The blaze was caused by a combination of children and matches. There was no insurance.

Mrs. I. M. Parvin of Carroll county departed this life in Kansas City Wednesday, whither she went last October to attend a sick grandchild. Mrs. Parvin's maiden name was Montgomery and she was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, February 19, 1850. Her first husband was Jos. T. Snider and by whom she had six children, six of whom survive her.
